Article 1

The Institute of Marine Affairs and Resource Management (hereinafter referred to as “This Institute”) has implemented these regulations in order to improve the standards of teaching, research and service based on the “Regulations on the Evaluation of Faculty Members” of this university.

Article 2

All full-time faculty members shall be evaluated or exempted from evaluation according to the “Regulations on the Evaluation of Faculty Members” of this university.

When a full-time faculty member deals with pregnancy, childbirth or sudden emergency situations, he/she may obtain the relevant certificate in advance to postpone the evaluation along with the approval of his/ her unit, college and university. However, such postponement should not exceed two years.

When a full-time faculty member is on a vacation research program or assigned to another institution or school in order to provide service, he/she may obtain the relevant certificate in advance to postpone the evaluation, along with the approval of his/ her unit, college and university. However, such postponement should not exceed the original approved vacation research program and secondment period.

Article 3

Evaluation criteria and standards

The evaluation program of the Institute is divided into four criteria; namely, performance (40% of the total score), research project or industry-university cooperation (25% of the total score), publication of work (25% of the total score) and counselling and service performance (10% of the total score).

The total score is 100 points; 70 points or greater is considered as passed, but any evaluation criterion does not result in 0 points and the total number of papers published in journals with academic censorship of which he/she is the first author (including corresponding author) as well as the number of projects in which he/she is the project leader should not be less than 3. The scoring for the evaluation criterion shall be based on the results in the last five years prior to each review.

An applicant who intends to adopt the provision stipulated in Subparagraph 8, Paragraph 1, Article 8 of the regulations on the evaluation of faculty members of the university, should have at least 3 of his/her papers published in SCI, SSCI, and TSSCI journals in the past 5 years.

Article 4

Scoring for the evaluation criteria is as follows:

- I. Teaching performance: Comprehensive judgments on teaching hours, student response, teaching materials and content, and postgraduate guidance
 1. Class hours (60% of the total score): A full-time faculty member gets a full score (60 points), spending an average of more than 70% class hours as specified in the university's letter of appointment within five years, and 3 points are deducted for each hour short.

2. Teaching feedback comments (15% of the total score): average online teaching feedback survey in the past five years converted into percentage and multiplied by 15%. This criterion has a maximum of 15 points.
3. Content of teaching materials (10% of the total score): A self-edited textbook or textbook related to each course gets an additional 2 points that can accumulate up to 10 points.
4. Postgraduate guidance (15% of the total score): Full points (15 points) are given for cumulative guidance of 5 graduate students in the past 5 years; 3 points are deducted for any and each student short.

II. Research projects or industry-university cooperation:

1. Special project of the National Science Council: 40 points for each project
2. Project of other affiliated institutions of the Executive Yuan: 30 points for each project
3. Guidance to college students participating in a special project of the National Science Council: 20 points for each project
4. Execution of special project or Guidance to college students participating in other special projects: 10 points for each project

If he/she is also involved in the said project, the score is halved.

If the score is more than 100 points, it shall be recorded as 100 points.

III. Publication:

1. Papers published in SCI and SSCI journals: 40 points for each paper
2. Papers published in EI, list of excellent journals in the National Science Council, TSSCI: 30 points for each paper
